NO HOPE FOR HOPE.

A Tramp Fined For Being Drunk and Hanging Around Town.

James Hope, a boy tramp less than 20 years old, was fined $25 in the police court of Topeka for being drunk. The charge against the boy, however, others knowing the uselessness of a trial on the latter part of the charge, erased that part of it.

"Were you not here under sentence for being drunk?" demanded Judge Bunting.

"Yes, sir," replied the boy.

"How long ago was that?"

"A couple of weeks."

" Didn't you agree to get out of town?"

"I did get out of town, but—"

"I fine you $25," interrupted the judge,

"and you will stand committed until the sentence is complied with."

"But if you would give me another chance—" pleaded the boy.

"You have had your chance," was the reply.

IS DENTON A BURGLAR

Miss Kissie Boyd on the Witness Stand Today.

TO PROVE THAT HE IS ONE

Interesting Case of the Robbery of the Boarding House on East Seventh.

Miss Kissie Boyd, a bright young lady with black curly hair and a searching black eye, was the first witness called in the district court this morning in the trial of the G. H. Denton burglary case.

Denton is the man who is charged with having burglarized the boarding house in the Case block on East Seventh street on the afternoon of Monday, October 25.

This was during the state fair, and the burglary was reported to the police in the afternoon and later in the evening.

Captain Gish arrested two men, one of whom was Denton. The other gave his name as Hamilton. The police found skeleton keys on each of the men, but Denton was the only one identified as having been seen about the premises, and at the preliminary examination Hamilton was discharged.

The burglar had taken a large quantity of jewelry from the room of Mrs. Scott, one of the boarders in the house.

When the case was called last evening, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Bloomfield were both examined for the prosecution. Denton is being defended by Lawyers Harvey and Atchison.

When Miss Kissie Boyd was placed on the witness stand this morning she told the story of the burglary and of having seen Denton in the house. She positively identified the prisoner before the bar as the man.

In the cross examination Lawyer Atchison asked: "Don't you remember that when I asked you in the presence of Mrs. Scott if you did not know that there was another man in Topeka who looked exactly like Denton, that you both held up your hands and drew in your breath like this?" and Lawyer Atchison went through the motions sometimes seen in the "Discovery act" in a comedy drama "To object" interposed County Attorney Safford.

"The objection overruled," announced the court, and the pretty witness answered "No."

This pleased the crowd in the court room, and Judge Hazen was compelled to rap sharply with his wooden gavel to stop the laughter.

Captain Gish, who made the arrest, was the next witness, and he told of making the arrest and having had Denton identified immediately afterwards by the couple at the boarding house. He said he shadowed Denton from the corner of Fourth and Kansas avenue around on several streets, until he finally arrested him with Hamilton in front of Frank Long's restaurant.

The next witness was a small boy, Harry Arnold, who works at the printing establishment of George W. Crane & Co.

The boy had been sent to the boarding house by Mrs. Bloomfield who works at Crane's and who rooms in the home, to see if she had looked her room. He identified Denton as the man he met on the stairs, when he went up to Mrs. Bloomfield's room.

A STORY OF DEPRAVITY.

Mr. Coddy Tells a Tale About Backroom Books That Is Shocking.

"Pig-leg" Anton Koly, the bartender whose disreputable escapade of Sunday night was mentioned in last evening's issue, was arrested at 10 o'clock this morning by Constable Smith of Justice Grover's court, on a state warrant charging him with assault for mutual purposes. He will probably be able to give bail.

Anton Koly, another girl who was with Della Taylor in the back, tells the police a different story from that of Della Taylor. She says that the Taylor girl was not "drugged"; she was drunk. She says she knew this because they both drank out of the same bottle. She says further that Della had such a hairy and craggy face that "Pig-leg" didn't want to bring her out to town at all, but wanted to throw her out of the mark the other side of the Santa Fe shop.

AT THE CHICKEN SHOW.
Prizes Are Awarded Today—Money and Silver Cups as Premiums.
Several awards were mad at the Poultry show today. The show continues until Saturday. There are many visitors. It seems to be a contest between the nickel-in-the-slot machine which plays Boom-De-Ay and the poultry as to which makes the most noise.
About $125 will be given in prizes, and L. V. Hardy, of Belleville, has set the society two silver cups to be given to the best exhibitors of Cochins and Plymouth Rock hens.

The prizes awarded this morning were to Misses Neville, of Newton, for the best Gallinaceous Pullets rooster, hen and pullets.

H. H. Baird, of Topeka, was awarded first prize on Rose Comb Red Crown Leghorns.
